

MAP OF SOUTH GEORGIA

After battling monstrous waves and ferocious winds for ten days straight, Shackleton's party arrived happily at King Haakon Bay, South Georgia. However, their gruelling journey was not over yet. They sailed the little boat along the coast until they found a suitable spot to land. Their first thought being shelter, they took refuge and recuperated in a small cave, guarded by 15-foot-long icicles.

