

As the little boat moved away, the group on the beach gave three big cheers, and watched as their friends disappeared over the horizon.

Enough provisions for six months were taken:

McNeish, McCarthy, Vincent, Worsley and Crean were chosen to accompany Shackleton on his epic journey South Georgia.

This would be an extremely hazardous journey. The ocean south of Cape Horn was perhaps the most treacherous in the world, known for its deadly gales.